

How to get back to the city of departure

On a day, the boats cover only one navigation stretch to either Padua or Venice.

The return to the city of departure, if required, can be arranged freely and all the people wishing to do so can travel, at their own expense, on the scheduled bus service or by train, both having rather frequent runs.

Going back to Venice

- » From Padua: once the navigation service ends in Padua, with arrival at the Portello wharf, the travellers wishing to get back to Venice can use the following services:
  - Bus: take the SITA bus on the Padova-Venezia line, travel length approx. 45 minutes, at the stop “Via Venezia - Università” (see enclosed MAP OF PADUA) that is close to the Portello, and get off at Venice-Piazzale Roma (ticket cost € 4.60 approx., save variations).
  - Bus: from the Bus Station next to the Padua railway station (see enclosed MAP OF PADUA), take the SITA bus that leaves from platform no. 8 every hour (e.g. 6.25 p.m.; 7.25 p.m.) and get off at Venice-Piazzale Roma (ticket cost € 4.60 approx., save variations).
